

Go To Your Elected Representatives And Demand That They Put The “Echo-Chamber Balance Law” Into Congress

- Get This Law Passed If You Care About Freedom and Not Being Censored
- Crush and Recall Any Politicians Who Won't Support The Passage Of This Law
- Only The Politicians Who Are Silicon Valley's Tools And Lapdogs Will Stall This Legislation

Internet companies delete your account, your publications, your posts, your comments and anything you say that does not align with the political echo-chamber of the owners of those companies. They get tax dollar benefits and thus have no right to abuse the news, information and freedom-of-speech of the public.

That is a violation of your human rights and the rights guaranteed to you by your national Constitution when they do that.

DEMAND a law which requires:

“That all digital media publishers who remove and/or manually or algorithmically down-rank any account, publications, posts, comments and/or anything a member of the public says that does not align with the political ideology of the owners of that media company shall be subject to $100,000.00 fine per incident and have all government contracts, grants, loans, tax credits and regulatory waivers canceled.”

This will return ethics, fairness, human rights and Constitutional law to the airwaves.

To get a federal law passed, it must be proposed by the House or Senate and signed by the President (or vetoed, and the veto overridden).

Therefore, the way to get into the system would be by contacting your state's Senator or Representative in Congress. Make sure you have good notes on what you want to accomplish and how it will be done.

State laws need to go through your state's congress (or some states allow laws to be placed on the ballot). The best way to do this would be to contact your local senator or representative and speak with them about what you want. Again, have good notes on what you want to accomplish and how to do it.

State representatives are generally more approachable, so start there (on the local level) and drum up support after getting every person you know, or can reach on the web, to back you up!
